Wut'z New

Hey all!

I can't believe it's the end of September. It seems like just yesterday we were walking down Pine Drive.

There is no doubt that I miss camp more than anything. I miss celebrating Halloween in the middle of July and watching everyone perform those hilarious skits. Most of all, I miss all of you guys.

I hope school is going well for everyone. I know some of you are doing other activities outside of school, like swimming, lacrosse, soccer, and music lessons. Good luck with all of those!

For me, I am spending my time working in a fifth grade classroom at a school outside of Boston. So far, it has been wonderful, but I am definitely counting down the days until I get back up to camp.

You can e-mail me at tcorcoran@campwaklo.com. I've already heard from a few of you, but I would love to hear from more!

Miss you guys a lot!

Tammy

Hi fellow Wa-Klonians,

The only cabin currently open at camp is SideOut, my personal favorite. I was up at camp last weekend for a stay in order to attend a nearby meeting. I'm going up for one last week-end to attend another meeting, and then SideOut gets closed. Everything is shuttered and boarded up—Wa-Klo definitely takes on a new look during the off season. A few living creatures are happy about camp's closing. About seven wild turkeys roam around camp; they pop up everywhere. They favor land sports, because I find them more on the front field and around the tennis and archery area. Harry the Heron dominates the waterfront. I haven't seen a skunk since camp closed; the skunks definitely prefer bunk bonding than any active sport. When I lie in my bed at night, acorns fall on SideOut's roof; the sound resembles a huge boom as if fireworks are going off inside my house. I imagine that the squirrels are warming up their pitching arms by throwing the acorns right where I'm trying to sleep. The louder the acorn's boom the happier the squirrels are; I envision the squirrels "high fiving" each other when they hit their target.

The leaves were just beginning to turn when I was last there. I believe next weekend, I may see them in their glorious autumn colors. The skunks, turkeys, squirrels, and even Harry take time out of their busy day to marvel at the autumn miracle.

Nature is definitely a wonder.

Miss Chenet
